

A photograph of two miners in a dark underground tunnel. The miner on the left is wearing a yellow hard hat and a green jacket, looking upwards. The miner on the right is wearing a white hard hat and a pink shirt, also looking upwards and pointing towards the rock face. The rock face is illuminated by a bright light source, possibly a headlamp or a flashlight, creating a strong contrast with the surrounding darkness. The background shows the rough, textured walls of the mine.
